

UPDATE – As the number of individuals with COVID vaccinations become more prevalent, and the number of new cases and hospitalizations continue to decrease nationwide, Archrock has begun to relax its COVID protocols where it is safe to do so. As we begin the shift back to a more normal workplace, all actions taken have been in accordance with CDC recommendations as well as any state and local regulations.

In addition, we remain committed to collaborating with our customers to ensure we stay closely aligned when it comes to COVID management in the workplace. We will continue to monitor the critical COVID indicators in the areas where we operate. If conditions change, or the need arises to reinstate any of our COVID safety protocols, we are fully prepared to do so as necessary.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'J. Ingersoll', is positioned above the name and title.

Jason Ingersoll
SVP, Sales & Ops Support